

To Protect

By Zorah

Submitted: August 24, 2006

Updated: August 24, 2006

*A poem I made for close friends and family!! You know who you people are!!*big hugs to fam/friends

1. To Protect

To Protect

To protect is to never give in,
never cave in,
or let the other one win.

To protect is to see fit your loved one is safe,
to never see a tear haunt their face.

To protect is to give your very soul,
to watch your loved one grow into an angel and go.

To protect is to give your body and mind,
so your loved one can find out,
who they truly are in life.

I vow to protect you until the very end,
until you can be happy again,
until no tear haunts your face,
until my angel flies to that place.

I will protect my loved one forever.