

Tinto's Last Day

By jessdel

Submitted: August 4, 2005

Updated: August 4, 2005

A 5th grade writing assignment about a dragon.

1. Story

" Tinto's Last Day "

Writing

Jessica De Leon

Personal narrative

1

The story began in a past medieval village Arena in 1634 A.D where people dwell. A blonde haired teen female named Scotia was feeding a blue, green eyed, friendly large dragon named Tinto, Grandpa called, " I'm going to do some spell research, bye! "

Scotia said , " Bye, I'll take care of him." Soon, Scotia whistled for Tinto and rode him over town; her dragon, Tinto, could get very berserk . Citizens were walking around peacefully. Scotia was whipping Tinto, she was saying `hi-ya', `hi-ya every time she whipped him, but on the last whip she did, suddenly he went very berserk after an hour.

First, he roared to scare all the people and second, he spit out fire out his mouth leading the villages to be burnt down. Scotia fell down and Grandpa caught her.

All the towns were burning ; village people were screaming. A lot of ash piled on

The ground , fruit stands were burning too. Grandpa scolded, " You should have been more careful!"

Scota said ,"But-". Grandpa scolded her. Everything was burning except a few homes

And their home.

Villagers were running away and screaming as Tinto chased them around. Wizards

Tried to battle Tinto, but he was too strong for them. Grandpa got his spellbook and staff

And went with the other wizards Scota tried to get Tinto to calm down. A lot of people Went away and was evacuated safely.

Finally, Grandpa found a spell a spell in his book. Scota looked at Grandpa and said

,"You found a spell!" Grandpa put an ice spell on Tinto near the sea which made him freeze into a block of ice and drop at sea. Two months later, the was rebuilt and the inhabitants were safe.