

Nintendo Gangsters: Mario's story

By Link119

Submitted: July 7, 2007

Updated: July 7, 2007

Ive divided Nintendo gangster between each characters point of view, and episodes. the first character we're focusing on is Mario.

1. Episode 1: the king koopa chase begins

Nintendo Gangsters

Mario

Episode 1: the king koopa chase begins

BOOM!!! A grenade went off, failing to kill any one in the fireballs gang. However, it did warn them, so they all dove for cover, drew their guns, and shot right back at the shell gang. The fireballs was led by Mario, and the shells were led by king koopa, however king koopa wasn't there at this war. And the koopas that were there must've been amateurs cause they weren't hitting anything. They couldn't even hit the fireballs with a surprise grenade. The fireballs kept shooting. Mario shot one koopa directly between the eyes. Yoshi shot another one in the throat. Koops was hiding in his shell, refusing to shoot at fellow koopas, but not wanting to get shot. Mario shot 3 more koopas, wounding 1 and killing 2. there were only 6 more left. Yoshi shot another one in the elbow, spinning him around and knocking him on his back. The three fireballs that were there were taking out eleven shells. Yoshi shot one in the nose, while the other four fired back rapidly, all missing, but one hit the car the fireballs were ducking behind in the gas tank and blew it up. Koops slid into the building and ricocheted into the shells, breaking the legs of two of the koopas, and tripping the other two. Thinking they killed Mario, they bolted to the car and sped off. You could hear them say "he's dead, let's go" as they were getting into the car. Meanwhile, Mario and Yoshi were laid out on the sidewalk.

2 hours later&Mario regained consciousness, and looked up at luigi, peach, toad, birdo, daisy, and Yoshi. Mario was surprised to see yoshi reawakened so fast.

where's koops? asked Mario.

he broke his back and one of his arms, Responded peach.

damn, I can't afford to lose to many members in my gang, Said Mario. I can't believe koopas that crappy actually won that fight.

Mario tried getting up, but luigi and peach stopped him.

what's the deal? asked Mario.

you need rest, said peach.

The next day&downtown mushroom city&

Mario, luigi, yoshi, and the toad stool gang(toad and a bunch of toadstools) were walking down main street. They stopped in an alleyway by the mushroom mart. They waited, and waited, and waited, and waited in the alleyway. After about a half hour, five shells who worked there walked out of it. Once they passed the alleyway (not noticing the fire-stools), the fire-stools left the alleyway and jumped the koopas. Mario continuously slammed koopunga's (king koopas right hand koopa) face into the wall of the mushroom mart until his nose was bleeding, then threw him on the ground and started stomping him. Yoshi tripped koopungo (koopunga's brother) with his tongue, and ground pounded him into the sidewalk. Luigi punched willykoopas in the face three times, knocking him into the road where a car slammed into him, and drove off. The toad stools ran straight at pakoopa and koopusher and slammed them into the wall shell-first. Their shells cracked and they toppled over. The toad stools then each grabbed a shard from the broken shells and jabbed them into the koopas. Meanwhile Mario let koopunga get up and shoved him right back down. He then curb-stomped koopunga's jaw in half. They killed five of the most important koopas from king koopa's gang. The fire-stools got themselves out of there as fast as they could. Long before anyone saw the dead koopas and called the cops, which wouldn't have mattered anyways, cause the cops were toadstools.

About 4 hours later the fire-stools were walking back to the castle, when a blue toadstool got shot in the mushroom. He was dead before he hit the ground. And the fire-stools were out in the open, just hoping that was a lucky first shot, and that the koopas shooting couldn't shoot for crap. They drew their weapons and shot back at them. However, they weren't koopas. They were goombas. All of the fire-stools started shooting except the yellow toadstool, who was too busy wondering how the goombas could shoot with no hands that he couldn't shoot. He got shot right between the legs. Meanwhile there were way too many goombas. At least 30 to 7 fire-stools (not counting the dead ones). Mario shot 3 of them, luigi shot 5, yoshi shot 2, and toad shot 4. lucky for them, the first four they took out (shot one by Mario, and three by luigi) were their only good shots, and one of them must've led the assault, cause most of them retreated after the third one died. And all of them who didn't get killed. They hurried home to the castle.

At the castle&

did you get them guys? asked monty mole.

yup, said luigi, and then we got ambushed by a bunch of goombas, and lost a toadstool.

we still beat the goombas, even when we were ambushed, said toad.

TOAD!!! screamed toadette, as she ran over to hug him. Are you all right? What happened to Timmy?

he got shot right in the mushroom by the goombas. Said toad.

guys, I'm going back to koopunga's body, and hoping the cops haven't arrived yet, or moved the body. I'll be back. Said Mario.

what for? asked luigi.

But Mario was already long gone. About a half hour later he got to the mushroom mart where, to his disappointment, there were cops. But the bodies weren't moved. He just needed to create a diversion of some sort. His luck must've been really good, cause right after that thought, a gang war broke out somewhere and the cops had to leave the scene to check it out. Mario quickly ran to koopunga's body and felt around inside his shell, and pulled out a paper. He then smirked and ran back to the castle. When he got back, he showed them the paper. Luigi, expecting it to be a map or something that would lead them to king koopa, took a look. To his surprise, it was just a letter from king koopa, which had mario's everyday schedule written on it. But Mario turned it around in luigi's hand. In the upper left corner, the word 'art' was written.

what about it? asked luigi.

gimme that said Mario.

He showed them a photo they took about a year ago, with them, peach, Koops, yoshi, Monty, goombella, daisy, birdo, and toad.

yeah Mario, good memories, but what about it. Asked luigi. Mario then pointed to the mushroom mart poster. he asked princess peach to enlarge it on the computer(yeah, they have a computer now). The peace of paper matched the mushroom mart poster. oh my god! yelled luigi. that means...

They all bolted to mushroom mart, and, sure enough, the art was ripped out of mushroom mart on the poster. they ran in, and quickly, Mario pulled a gun on firkoop. how do I get inside the hide out? asked Mario. Firkoop clicked something behind the register, and Mario shot him, thinking it was a button to contact the police. search the walls! yelled Mario. Quickly, they frantically started tipping over shelves, and finally, toad found a door to the basement on the floor. He opened it and they all jumped in. yoshi quietly closed the door behind him. to their surprise, this basement was more like a castle dungeon. There was a straight hall, with 7 doors (3 on each side, and one at the end. Quickly and quietly, Mario opened the first one on the left, which had a single star on it. Inside, was just a long bridge, above a crap load of lava. Mario told the others to wait in the hall and watch the basement door. There was a koopa snoozing right next to the bridge. Mario walked over to him and picked him up, the koopa immediately woke up, fearfully.

w-w-what do you want?! he asked.

where s king koopa? asked Mario.

he s in the door with the biggest star, but you need six keys to get in there! said the scared koopa.

where can I find these keys? asked Mario.

there s one key in each room. Answered the koopa.

thanks, you made this easier than I thought it would be. Mario said, then threw him over the bridge, into the lava, as he screamed the whole way down, alerting the other koopas. Mario quickly threw a smoke bomb that was in his pocket, and ate a flower that was right under where the koopa was snoozing. Instantly, his overalls turned white, and his shirt brightened it s shade, he then shot a bunch of fireballs into the smoke. He heard loads of screaming and gunfire. He got behind a barrier, then threw a bomb threw the smoke, which exploded with a loud bang. Luckily for him, his pockets were enchanted by a witch he saved a long time ago, so he could hold as many items in his pocket that he wanted. So he had a lot of bombs. The gunfire stopped, so he ran through the smoke. He was surprised how small the room was, cause just past the bridge, there was a lot of floor, and just a wall. He saw a small red key laying on the ground. He picked it up. He then quickly left the room, through the door, and showed the fireballs and toad the key.